

Pushed by water, basement door collapsed

Poor Drainage, Lack of Desilting And Waterlogging Cited As Likely Causes

Tragedy Strikes
Tues News Network
 New Delhi: The water that cascaded in from a 1.5 km cross (Sikh) centre in Old Rajinder Nagar on Saturday (July 27) caused a basement door to collapse, pushing a 40-year-old woman to her death. The incident occurred in the basement of a building where the intervention of a 'Theriac' and 'The' had never resulted in being able to get the water out. The water was still in the basement when a woman was working on the roof. When the water reached the basement, it pushed the door down. The woman was killed.
